

Station #2

Straw Woodwind

1. Take ONE straw and flatten one end (you may have to bite it).
2. Cut out a 'V' shape in the flattened end of the straw (This acts like a reed on a woodwind instrument).
3. Place the "reed" of the straw on your lower lip, close your mouth gently (not too tightly) over it, and blow until it makes a sound. Don't let your teeth touch the straw. With your lips barely touching, blow steadily, gradually increasing your lip pressure.

Don't worry, this may take practice
